Security Solutions from MicroWorld Technologies have just registered its customer base to grow beyond the landmark number of one million. MicroWorld Technologies, the software firm that produced eScan and MailScan, has been experiencing exponential growth in the last few years that culminated in this great feat.

MicroWorld software solutions are the best and technologically the most advanced, available in the market today. Discernible computer users around the world are gravitating towards eScan and MailScan, apparently evident from MicroWorld gaining the Number One position on Google search, in the Antivirus and Content Security segment.

Right from the day one, MicroWorld believed in proactive and preventive security concepts for enterprises and home users alike, and thereby developed a revolutionary technology named MWL (MicroWorld Winsock Layer) to power its products. This technology empowers eScan and MailScan to clean files at the socket level and thereby saves the need to write the data to temporary folders before scanning.

"Being a comprehensive security solution addressing a vast spectra of threats, and still remain the most advanced in each of those segments at the same time, may look like tight-rope walk, especially at a time when niche products are booming. However, with a fundamentally strong technology and consistent innovation, that's a standard we continuously excel," reveals Govind Rammurthy, CEO, MicroWorld Technologies.

Real-Time Virus Scanning, Real-Time Content Scanning, Advanced Heuristic Scanning, Integrated Security Policy, Remote Web Administration, Productivity Management/Parental Control, Total Pop-up Blocker and Intelligent Spam Stopper are some of the few features of eScan, the AntiVirus and Content Security software for desktops and servers.

MailScan on the other hand, provides total security and mail traffic management at the MailServer level. It scans of all e-mails for Viruses and other malware, performs content control checks on the email body, does Spam control by checking the validity of the mail sender, ensures Centralized Security for your corporate mail system and much more.

While MicroWorld continues to grow at a supersonic rate in US, Europe and Asia pacific region, it's finding huge demand in Middle East and Far East as well. Amassing one million customers is perfectly in tune with MicroWorld's vision to become most preferred Security Solution in the world.

"Crossing the one million mark is a huge milestone in our endeavor to secure the web for computer users. But it also reminds us about the vast majority who still remain unprotected and under protected from various threats. I'm sure we will draw inspiration from this breakthrough, to spread our security cover in length and breadth in order to add real confidence to computing for them," envisioned Govind Rammurthy.
